v.
BRANDON WARREN and VICTOR HILL,
in their individual and official capacities, Defendants.

CIVIL ACTION FILE NO.:
1:21-CV-5197-MHC

DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO STAY ALL DISCOVERY AND MEMORANDUM OF LAW IN SUPPORT

COME NOW Defendants Brandon Warren and Victor Hill (hereinafter “defendants”), by and through the undersigned counsel of record, and pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26(d) and L.R. 26.1, respectfully move this Court for an order staying all discovery in this action, including disclosures and planning conferences pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 26 and L.R. 16.1 and 16.2, pending a final ruling on defendants’ motion to dismiss plaintiff’s complaint. As grounds for this motion, defendants show the following:

I. INTRODUCTION

Defendants have filed a motion to dismiss based on the allegations contained in plaintiff's complaint. In their motion, defendants seek an order dismissing plaintiff's claims against them for failure to state a claim and based on qualified immunity, official immunity, Eleventh Amendment immunity, and sovereign immunity, among other grounds. As such, depending on the Court's ruling, plaintiff's claims against defendants may be dismissed, thereby rendering discovery unnecessary. In the interests of efficiency and justice, and to prevent undue burden and expense, defendants now request that all discovery, including disclosures and planning conferences pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 26 and L.R. 26.1, be stayed pending the Court's consideration of and ruling on defendants' motion to dismiss.

II. ARGUMENT AND CITATION TO AUTHORITY

This Court has broad discretion to control discovery. Indeed, Rule 26(d) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure provides the Court broad discretion to alter the sequence of discovery “for the convenience of the parties . . . and in the interests of justice.” FED. R. CIV. P. 26(d); see also Panola Land Buyers Ass’n v. Shuman, 762 F.2d 1550, 1558-59 (11th Cir. 1985) (court has “broad discretion to stay discovery until the district court rules on a pending dispositive motion”). Pursuant to this authority, it is proper for a trial court to stay discovery while a dispositive motion is pending. Horsley v. Feldt, 304 F.3d 1125, 1131 n.2 (11th Cir. 2002) (ruling that stay of discovery was proper pending district court's disposition of a motion for judgment on the pleadings that challenged the sufficiency of the complaint's allegations); Chudasma v. Mazda Motor Corp., 123

F.3d 1353, 1367 (11th Cir. 1997) (holding that stay of discovery was proper pending district court's resolution of motion based on failure to state a claim for relief).

In exercising its discretion, this Court should stay discovery in this matter, thereby relieving the parties from having to expend time and resources on discovery pending a ruling on defendants' motion to dismiss. Any discovery conducted before such a ruling would likely be overly broad and encompass claims which are subject to dismissal. As the Eleventh Circuit has noted, "[e]xperience teaches that, unless cases are pled clearly and precisely, issues are not joined, discovery is not controlled, the trial court's docket becomes unmanageable, the litigants suffer, and society loses confidence in the court's ability to administer justice." Anderson v. Dist. Bd. Of Trs. of Cent. Fla. Cmty. Coll., 77 F.3d 364, 366-67 (11th Cir. 1996). The purpose of discovery is not "to enable a plaintiff to make a case when [his] complaint has failed to state a claim." Butler v. Sukhoi Co., 579 F.3d 1307, 1315 (11th Cir. 2009) (citing Kaylor v. Fields, 661 F.2d 1177, 1184 (8th Cir. 1981)). Rather, "[d]iscovery should follow the filing of a well-pleaded complaint." Kaylor, 661 F.2d at 1184.

In their motion, defendants have demonstrated to the Court that under no circumstances can they be held liable to plaintiff on his asserted claims in the complaint. Because defendants' motion is limited to those well-plead allegations in plaintiff's complaint, there is no need for discovery at the present time as no factual development is necessary for the Court to pass upon the sufficiency of plaintiff's claims against them. Mullins v. M.G.D. Graphics Systems Group, 867 F.Supp. 1578, 1579 (N.D. Ga. 1994) ("the Court must presume, for purposes of this motion, that all well-pleaded factual allegations of the Complaint are true and all contravening assertions in the movant's pleadings are false.").

Additionally, a stay of discovery is particularly warranted in this case as defendants have asserted various immunities from suit. This "entitlement is an immunity from suit rather than a mere defense to liability; and like an absolute immunity, it is effectively lost if a case is erroneously permitted to go to trial." Miracle by Miracle v. Spooner, 978 F. Supp. 1161, 1175 (N.D. Ga. 1997) (citing Griesel v. Hamlin, 963 F.2d 338, 340 (11th Cir. 1992)). The Supreme Court "repeatedly [has] stressed the importance of resolving immunity questions at the earliest possible stage in the litigation." Hunter v. Bryant, 502 U.S. 224, 227 (1991); Siegert v. Gilley, 500 U.S. 226, 231–32 (1991) (noting that immunity is a threshold issue and discovery should not be allowed while the issue is pending); Harlow v. Fitzgerald, 457 U.S. 800, 818 (1982) ("Until this threshold immunity question is resolved, discovery should not be allowed.").

For these reasons, an order staying all discovery, including disclosures and planning conferences pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 26 and L.R. 26.1, will protect all parties from expending time, effort, and resources on potentially irrelevant claims or issues.

III. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, defendants respectfully request that the Court grant this motion and stay all discovery in this matter pending the Court's consideration of and ruling on defendants' motion to dismiss plaintiff's complaint.
